

Primateology researchers speak on mountain gorilla conservation

Wednesday, December 6, 2017 | 12:00–3:00 p.m.
Smathers Library (East) Room 100

Dr. Tara Stoinski has studied gorillas for over two decades. She leads conservation, protection and research of gorillas in Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of Congo and serves as the President and CEO/Chief Scientific Officer of the Fossey Fund.

Professor David Watts was director of the Karisoke Research Center for two years. Currently he leads research on common chimpanzees and their habitat at Ngogo (Kibale National Park, Uganda) and started the Ngogo Chimpanzee Project in 1995 which he co-directs with colleagues.

Helping People. Saving Gorillas.